DECLASSIFIED

FRIDAY
NOVEMBER 26, 1954

A fine, lazy day, with bright sunshine.

Walked for almost two hours, bought neckties and a folding umbrella.

All meals at home. E. still with a hacking, horrendous cough. Sasha joyful, much amused by the antediluvian bulldogs, Gabriel and Mansfield, who have little sense of balance, and fall heavily on no provocation.

Christopher Tower lunched with us, and we talked of the Middle East. Sasha cannot understand why this first cousin of her mother's is also her relative.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE A/CDC/MR
REVIEWED BY CEC DATE 7-1-81
☐or XDS☐EXT. DATE
TS AUTH. REASON(S)
ENDORSE EXISTING MARKINGS ☐
DECLASSIFIED/RELEASABLE☑
RELEASE DENIED☐
PA or FOIA EXEMPTIONS

DECLASSIFIED